

Just the Facts:

Kentucky Business Climate

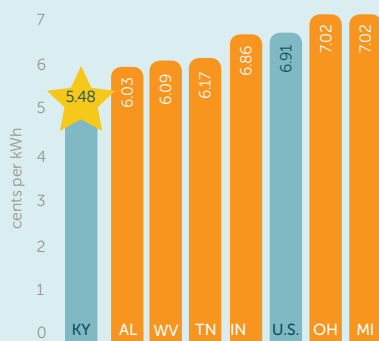

Feb 2017

Did you know?

For 3 years in a row, Kentucky has placed first or second in Site Selection magazine's Governor's Cup rankings for new and expanded industry activity per capita. And Kentucky remains in the top 10 state rankings for overall economic development.

Industrial Electricity Average Price

Energy Information Administration, Average Price by State, released 2016

The cost of electricity for the industrial sector in Kentucky is 20 percent lower than the national average.

According to CNBC, Kentucky ranks:
 #2 - Lowest cost of living
 #5 - Lowest cost of doing business

Why Kentucky?

Kentucky works hard to take care of business. Whether it's a business that is new to the state or one whose roots run generations deep, Kentucky makes sure companies have what they need to succeed. With some of the nation's lowest industrial electricity costs, aggressive and effective incentive programs, an ideal location and an unsurpassed quality of life, Kentucky has become a top location choice for globally competitive enterprises. And now that Kentucky is a Right-to-Work state, Kentucky has become even more attractive.

Many of the world's most successful companies have already discovered that Kentucky is a great place to build their business. The commonwealth is home to thousands of domestic companies, as well as nearly 500 international firms representing 34 nations.

Kentucky's aggressive efforts to create a pro-business climate have not gone unnoticed, resulting in the creation of more than 16,000 manufacturing, service and technology jobs in 2016, and over $3.1 billion in new investment. And thanks to a pro-business governor and legislature, even more business-friendly changes are on the way.

Kentucky has become a top location choice for globally competitive enterprises.

Low Business Costs

It's less expensive to operate a business in Kentucky. Multiple studies show the state has below average business costs for both domestic and international companies. Kentucky also is among the best states in terms of labor costs and overall business climate.

Among the more significant location factors having a direct influence on bottom-line costs is the annual capital that must be committed to utility consumption. Kentucky has the lowest cost of electricity in the industrial sector among states east of the Mississippi River – and among the lowest nationwide – averaging 20 percent less than the national average.

Kentucky's competitive tax climate favors corporate investment. The commonwealth ranks as one of the most business-friendly states in the country for new firms and corporate headquarters.

Location, Location, Location!

Nature and nurture combined to make Kentucky a logistical paradise. Located at the center of a 34-state distribution area in the eastern United States, Kentucky's location advantage facilitates the distribution of goods and materials to a massive industrial and consumer market. Kentucky's borders are within a day's drive of over 65 percent of the nation's population, personal income and manufacturing establishments.

Did you know?

65% of the U.S. market and population is within a day's drive of Kentucky's borders.

In Fiscal 2015, the Kentucky Skills Network assisted more than 5,000 companies and 95,000 workers.

Two international airports and two top air cargo hubs (UPS and DHL) — with a third on the way by Amazon — also give Kentucky a logistics boost, ranking the state third in the nation in total air cargo shipments last year. Add that to Kentucky's extensive highway, air, rail and waterway transportation systems, and you can see how Kentucky businesses are able to aggressively compete in the global marketplace.

Business Confidence

Manufacturers in the Bluegrass State are thriving. As the state's fourth-largest employment sector, nearly one out of every 10 nonagricultural jobs in Kentucky is in manufacturing. In 2016 alone, more than 200 manufacturing facilities announced a new location or expansion in the commonwealth, which are projected to create nearly 7,500 new jobs with investments totaling almost $2.2 billion.

In 2015, Site Selection Magazine ranked Kentucky's Business Climate third nationally. Businesses of all sizes find success in Kentucky. The state consistently ranks among the top states for entrepreneurial growth and small business support. Kentucky also assists small businesses with services, including access to capital and loans, marketing and product development.

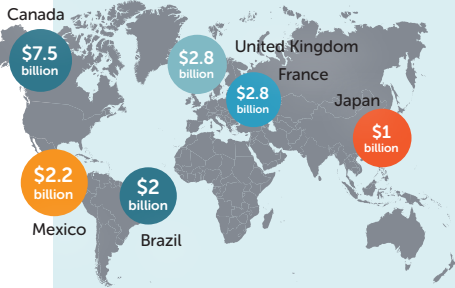

Workforce Services

The importance of workforce training has never been greater. As companies think globally, it's imperative that Kentucky's workforce be the very best it can be to remain competitive and provide good jobs for its residents. That's why Kentucky is revolutionizing its workforce delivery system, starting with an investment of $100 million to improve its workforce training infrastructure.

That's also why the commonwealth, through the Kentucky Skills Network, provides a variety of services to companies so they can find, train and retain a skilled workforce and to help people find jobs and achieve their career goals. Comprised of partner organizations throughout the state, the Kentucky Skills Network plays a significant role in keeping business and industry competitive in the global economy by providing the necessary training for their workforce. A sample of the Kentucky Skills Network's services include:

- Reimbursable grants and tax credits for classroom training, on-the-job training, tuition and certification training, train-the-trainer travel and entry-level and skills-upgrade training
- Safety and health training and consultative services
- Pre-employment assessment and training
- Training provider services
- Pre-employment job screening
- Labor market research
- Job fair assistance

Progressive Incentive Programs

Kentucky's innovative and progressive tax incentive programs provide the flexible financial assistance businesses need when locating, expanding or reinvesting in the state. Below are just a few of the programs that can be used to reduce or recover costs of a business investment in Kentucky. We also offer grants for customized workforce training programs, direct loans for fixed asset financing, small business loans and industrial revenue bonds.

Kentucky Business Investment (KBI) Program

Provides income tax credits and wage assessments to new and existing agribusinesses, regional and national headquarters, manufacturing companies, and non-retail service or technology-related companies that locate or expand operations in Kentucky. Projects locating in certain counties may qualify for enhanced incentives.

Kentucky Reinvestment Act (KRA)

Provides tax credits to an existing Kentucky company engaged in manufacturing and related functions on a permanent basis for a reasonable period of time that will be investing in eligible equipment and related costs of at least $2.5 million. No job creation is required.

Kentucky Enterprise Initiative Act (KEIA)

For new or expanding service or technology, manufacturing or tourism attraction projects in Kentucky. KEIA provides a refund of Kentucky sales and uses tax paid by approved companies for building and construction materials permanently incorporated as an improvement to real property. It is also available for Kentucky sales and use tax refunds for eligible equipment used for research and development and data processing equipment.

Incentives for Energy Independence Act (IEIA)

For companies engaging in the creation of new, alternative forms of energy, incentives may be available through the IEIA program, including corporate income tax credits, wage assessments and reimbursement of sales and use taxes paid on tangible personal property over a period of time up to 25 years.

SBIR-STTR Matching Funds Program

Matches, on a competitive basis, both Phase 1 and Phase 2 federal SBIR and STTR awards received by Kentucky high-tech small businesses and those willing to become Kentucky-based businesses.

Kentucky Small Business Tax Credit (KSBTC)

The KSBTC program is designed to encourage small business growth and job creation by providing a nonrefundable tax credit to eligible businesses hiring one or more eligible individuals and investing at least $5,000 in qualifying equipment or technology. With certain exceptions, most for-profit businesses with 50 or fewer full-time employees are considered eligible for this program.

Quality of Life

Kentucky is not only friendly to business. Its laid-back lifestyle is a big reason why the Bluegrass State is among the leaders when it comes to raising a family, finding work and living year-round in a place where millions love to visit and vacation. The state offers one of the nation's lowest costs of living, housing costs more than 30 percent below the national average, low taxes and amazing postcard-quality scenery. The friendly, hard-working people of Kentucky possess an unbridled spirit that can literally boost companies' bottom line.

Recreational activities are endless. From the rolling bluegrass-covered hills of legendary Horse Country and the grandstands of America's most storied thoroughbred racing tracks to the Kentucky Bourbon Trail and world-renowned outdoor adventure, it's easy to experience the unbridled spirit that runs throughout the Bluegrass State. The state's cities, towns and regions allow visitors and residents an opportunity to discover incredible one-of-a-kind attractions, unique traditions and culture, and an unabated energy that can be seen, heard and felt in everything from metropolitan nightlife to small town festivals and events.
